Our smallest one

The unique wooden folding ruler in a very portable pocket size edition. Also for target groups outside the construction and building trade such as technicians, engineers, business people, private households and many more.

The patented ADGA snap-in-latch technology which lets metal cams snap into the milled-out deepenings of the wood and lock the measuring stick section precisely and sturdily.

The invisible fittings and the tight-fitting sections allow filigree advertising imprints even with smallest font sizes on the entire sideface.
